NMC Strengthens North American Presence Through Acquisition of PTI

- Acquisition of PTI accelerates NMC's long-term growth strategy and expands its North American presence
- Complementary foam processing capabilities and market knowledge create new opportunities for innovation, application development, and customer-focused solutions
- Shared commitment to high-quality foam products, operational excellence, and long-term growth supports increased value for customers and business partners

NMC successfully completes acquisition of PTI

NMC is pleased to announce the successful completion of its acquisition of PTI, a respected North American manufacturer with 90 employees, recognized for its expertise, innovative capabilities, and strong customer relationships in the foam industry.

This acquisition marks an important milestone in NMC's long-term growth strategy and significantly strengthens the group's presence in North America. By combining PTI's market knowledge and manufacturing expertise with NMC's international footprint, both companies are well positioned to create additional value for customers, employees, and business partners.

Complementary strengths driving future growth

PTI's talented workforce, customer-focused approach, and proven track record complement NMC's commitment to delivering innovative foam solutions and sustainable growth across global markets.

"We are delighted to welcome PTI and its employees to the NMC family," said Florent Pouzet, Chief Executive Officer of NMC Group. "PTI has built an excellent reputation through the dedication of its people, the quality of its products, and the strength of its customer relationships. We see a strong cultural and strategic fit between our organizations and look forward to building on these foundations together. Our ambition is to support PTI's continued success while creating new opportunities for growth, innovation, and collaboration across both businesses."

A collaborative transaction process

NMC would also like to thank HSM for its constructive collaboration throughout the transaction process and for its commitment to ensuring a positive future for PTI, its employees, customers, and partners.

"Throughout this process, our priority has been to secure a strong long-term future for PTI and its stakeholders," said Marc Jones, HSM Solutions President and CEO. "We are confident that NMC is the right partner to support the company's next phase of growth and development. We thank all employees for their dedication and professionalism during this transition."

Continuity and local leadership

PTI will continue to operate from its existing North American locations under the leadership of Michael Simmons and his management team, ensuring continuity for customers, employees, suppliers, and business partners.

Shared values, stronger future – Foamly One

Together, NMC and PTI share a common commitment to quality, innovation, customer service, and long-term value creation. The combination of their complementary capabilities creates a stronger platform for future growth while maintaining the close customer relationships and entrepreneurial spirit that have been central to both companies' success.
